Feet treats

Consider this a personal testimonial. About a year ago, I received a pair of ProFoot Bottom of the Foot Cushions in a fashion show goody bag. New York Fashion Week is notoriously hard on feet (among many other things), and the ProFoots instantly became my fave shock absorbers ever, shuttled from Pradas to Miu Mius to Chloés and back again while I vainly searched for a source to buy more. This week, I learned they were at the last place a retail snob would ever look: Wal-Mart. So I stocked up as if it were a 75 percent off sale at Barneys New York. Bring on sandal season!
